Good afternoon Kelly,

As you may have read my electioneering has changed this week and I would like to humbly request some more time to consider a response to your vision. I hope that by the end of next week I will be in a better position to consider how I might respond to requests like yours.

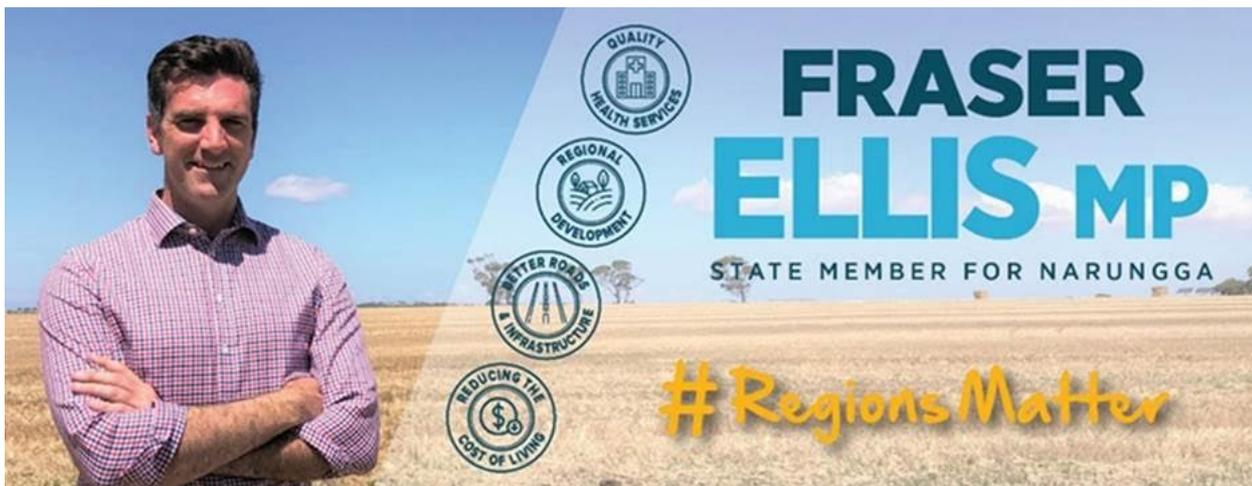

My sincere apologies for my tardiness.

Sincerely,

Subject: LGBTIQA+ election commitments

Dear Fraser Ellis

Recently we wrote to you regarding the needs of LGBTIQA+ South Australians (as outlined in our vision here) and ask that you respond outlining your/your party's commitments to the issues noted ahead of the looming State Election.

Responses were originally requested by close of business today and we thank those who have already responded. We understand, however, that these are busy and stressful times for many.

Therefore, we would greatly appreciate it if you could respond to this email letting us know if you intend to provide a policy response and, if so, in what timeframe.

We look forward to hearing from you and being able to inform the LGBTIQA+ community on where their candidates stand on their rights.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Kind regards,

Kelly Vincent (they/them or she/her)

Dear Kelly,

Thank you for your correspondence in relation to the upcoming State Election.

As an independent member of the crossbench and representative of a large regional electorate, Mr Ellis does not have the resources to properly research, analyse and respond to each of these proposals before the election. It would not do these important issues justice to provide an insufficient response without such research, analysis and proper consultation with my community.

Your members and stakeholders can rest assured, should he be re-elected, that he will always endeavour to cast his vote in accordance with the wishes of his electorate. He has a strong track record of doing just that which should act as a reassurance.

Once again, and with the most of sincere of apologies, thank you for contacting Mr Ellis.

Sincerely,

Georgia Honan | Legislative Assistant
